

IN SOCIETY.

EVEN at this early date everything is looking toward the opening of the Country club, and the officers elected for the coming year promise to make that place as popular as ever as a resting place for the city belles and beaux. At a recent meeting of the board of directors the officers chosen were: Mr. Pollock, president; Mr. Holman, vice president; Mr. Wickes, secretary, and Mr. W. Mont Perry, treasurer. With these are associated Mrs. Fischer and Mr. Channing to form an executive committee.

Plans for the opening of the club are not yet completed, but of course it will be opened immediately after Easter, and doubtless a few fine days before that time will see an occasional visitor.

A number of small sewing clubs have been formed for the purpose of whiling away the dull Lenten season, and incidentally a cup of tea or some light refreshment must be served, and sometimes this takes the form of a really simple luncheon. Some few of these clubs are working for sweet charity, but more of them are for the purpose of planning the summer fling, and, as has ever been the custom, hemming ruffles for summer gowns. Much study of the fashion plates is in vogue and the millinery wares are being anxiously scanned already, so the prospects are that a demand will be made for fair weather at Easter time.

Numerous upheavals are taking place in the homes of the city. Some of the fortunate ones are planning short trips to the coast, some are making brief visits to the east and some are simply cleaning house preparatory to the summer season. A number of the Salt Lake residents who have been away are returning, Mrs. Heath and Mrs. Kearns having already arrived. Mrs. Harris will be in her new home and settled for the season shortly and several other changes are being made in the matter of boarding and housekeeping.
